Graham Says Crusade a Success

By BENNET M. BOLTON
ZAGREB, Yugoslavia (AP) — Billy Graham regards his first crusade to a Communist country as a success although only about 2,000 persons turned out for each of his three meetings in Yugoslavia.

"Whenever the Gospel is preached — to one person, or a thousand or a million — that is a success," said the American evangelist before leaving by train Sunday night for Munich and the United States.

"Just the fact that he was able to come, that he was here with us, was a success in itself," said Dr. Jozip Horak, a Baptist leader who was Graham's host.

Arriving Friday in Zagreb, the tall, tanned American preached Saturday night at a Lutheran church and twice on Sunday, in a morning downpour and at dusk, on the soccer field of a Roman Catholic seminary.

There are only about 200,000 Protestants in this Marxist nation of Orthodox and Roman Catholic tradition whose government now professes atheism.

Yugoslavia's constitution assures religious freedom and the Communist regime gives all religious minimal tolerance but no encouragement.

Graham made clear at a news conference Saturday that he would not go into political issues. Never once did he mention communism or allude to life under a totalitarian regime. He encouraged his listeners, largely farmers and villagers brought by bus from distant points in the countryside, to show their Christianity and be active in their churches. He said that Christ wanted his believers to obey civil authority.

Graham regarded his visit as a test for future trips farther east into Communist Europe.

He said he believed in the people-to-people contact idea elaborated by Presidents Kennedy and Johnson.

"It's in the area of faith in God that we have something in common," he told a newsman.

De-escalation of War Asked by Senators

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eight Republican congressmen proposed today a unilateral diplomatic initiative by the United States for a step-by-step de-escalation of the Vietnam war.

The group said the United States should halt all bombing in North Vietnam north of the 21st Parallel for 60 days. This area includes Hanoi but not the port city of Haiphong.

If North Vietnam responded with a de-escalation move of its own within 60 days, the United States would then halt bombing north of the 20th Parallel for a 60-day period and so forth through five steps.

"Assuming that both sides would respond in turn in this de-escalatory process, both the U.S. bombing of the North and the North Vietnamese infiltration into the South could come to an end," the Republican congressmen said.

Otherwise, they added, the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam would continue.

The proposal was outlined in a statement prepared for a news conference.

Rep. F. Bradford Morse of Massachusetts, spokesman for the group, said if this plan of small steps were successful, "a spirit of confidence might emerge" between the United States and Hanoi which could lead to peace negotiations, a similar staged de-escalation in South Vietnam or both.

"By halting the bombing in stages, by starting the cessation in northern North Vietnam and gradually working southward, and by tying each successive stage to equivalent North Vietnamese reductions in its support operations to the South, the plan minimizes the military risks of the United States," Morse said.

Morse said the plan was not put forward as a panacea for settling the Vietnam war but seemed to offer more promise than the present war policy of the Johnson administration or the alternatives suggested by either those who oppose the war or those who want it stepped up.

Morse said he submitted the proposal to the administration some time ago but got no response.

Besides Morse, the GOP congressmen making the proposal were John R. Dellenback of Oregon, Marvin L. Esch of Michigan, Charles C. Mathias Jr. of Maryland, Charles A. Moshier of Ohio, Richard S. Schweiker of Pennsylvania, Robert T. Stafford of Vermont and Frank J. Horton of New York. None is identified with the GOP leadership in the House.

Violence Hits Iowa, Five Injured

WATERLOO, Iowa (AP) — Unrest among Negroes in this northeastern Iowa community, simmering for two days, exploded in a wave of violence late Sunday night.

It took 60 city policemen, backed up by a dozen highway patrolmen, about three hours to break up rampaging gangs in the city's predominantly Negro North End business district. Several persons were injured, including five cut by flying glass when passing cars were pelted with rocks. The five, two Negroes and three whites, were treated at a hospital and released.

Three arrests were made. Police said gangs of Negroes, including some women, looted several stores along East Fourth Street. Two parked cars were overturned.

Store display windows were smashed. Firemen answered several alarms to extinguish small blazes set at the height of the disturbance.

Several hundred persons, most of them Negroes, thronged the streets. Police Chief Robert Wright said the hard core of troublemakers numbered about 100, most of them what he called "young hoods."

Police cordoned off an area about four blocks square and moved in to disperse the rock-throwing gangs. The Negroes broke up into smaller and smaller groups, finally drifting home in the early morning hours.

Chief Wright said there had been minor disturbances in the Negro area Friday and Saturday nights, and authorities had been expecting more trouble.

Wright said the weekend of violence apparently was touched off with the arrest Friday night of a Negro accused of assaulting a white man.

Dr. Warren Nash, a Negro physician and one of those who tried to stop the disturbance before it got out of hand, said Negro dissatisfaction in Waterloo is caused by "The usual things, housing, employment, right down the line."

Waterloo, which has about 6,000 Negroes in its population of about 75,000, experienced some rock throwing and angry talk last year when a Negro hanged himself in a city jail cell.

The company announced that it was launching an investigation of the accident.

The accident occurred about 4:30 a.m. and Vickers died about three hours later. Vickers had been processing rolls of paper as they came off the machine.

LRU, U of A Merger Is Step Nearer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The University of Arkansas at Little Rock, pending "necessary legislative action," will become a reality apparently no sooner than the first of the year.

The merger announcement was made after the Little Rock University Board of Trustees approved "in substance" an agreement previously approved by the university board.

D. P. Raney of Little Rock, the chairman of the University of Arkansas board of trustees, and E. Grainger Williams of Little Rock, chairman of the board of trustees at LRU, said in their joint announcement Saturday that the decision to merge was reached after two years of in-depth studies by both institutions.

The statement said faculty and staff contracts at LRU will be comparable to those of the Fayetteville campus. The statement also said salaries at LRU are to be brought in line with the UA "as soon as possible."

The merger should be a step forward in the progress of higher education in Arkansas, Williams and Raney agreed.

"The boards further believe the merger will be in the best interests of both institutions," they said, "and that it will greatly increase their contributions to the educational and economic development of Central Arkansas, and, indeed, the entire state."

Williams said the "legislative action" referred to an appropriation by the state legislature.

Dr. Carey V. Stabler, president of LRU, will become chancellor of the new institution. The present LRU board will become a Board of Visitors that is to function as a liaison between the UA and the UALR.

apparently had been well scouted by reconnaissance planes.

A spokesman said pilot reports and photos after the strike disclosed that 68 canisters in which missiles are stored were hit by the raiding planes and the area was dotted with flames, explosions and broken wreckage.

The spokesman said the photographs did not disclose whether missiles were actually inside the canisters but it was likely they were loaded. However, the canisters were not believed to have contained the explosive warheads of the 37-foot-long missiles.

Amid the continuing artillery and rocket attacks on the Marines, seven Red rockets ripped up the runway at the Dong Ha airstrip 11 miles below the zone.

McNamara, who flew by helicopter within five miles of a fight between North Vietnamese and U.S. Marines Sunday near the zone, saw the flash of exploding artillery shells and of bombs from U.S. aircraft.

The secretary told newsmen the North Vietnamese, as a result of their diversion to the northern battle front, "can't put as much pressure on the government of Vietnam or the people of Vietnam in that God-forsaken area near the DMZ as they can in the Central Highlands or the 3rd Corps (Saigon area), where the population is located."

"The military situation is improving," he added.

However, McNamara, it was understood, did not feel this meant that more U.S. troops are now needed. Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of American forces in Vietnam, reportedly has asked for at least 100,000 to reinforce the 466,000 already in the war.

The commanding general did not go with McNamara on today's inspection rounds in the Mekong Delta. Westmoreland took an emergency leave to fly back to the United States to attend the funeral of his mother, who died Sunday in Columbia, S.C.

Television and Radio
By ALLEN LUDDEN
For Cynthia Lowry
EDITOR'S NOTE: Unless there is a last-minute change of plans, CBS's long-playing wordgame, "Password," will disappear in September from the day-time schedule, replaced by a new soap opera, Allen Ludden, the literate host who moved over from "College Bowl" and gave the show its identity for six years, describes here what it feels like when one learns that a show — and one's job — is marked for extinction.

NEW YORK (AP) — How does it feel to leave a show you've done five days a week for six years? I'm sad to leave "Password." It's a great game. It's an original. I can honestly say that I have never once been bored playing it. Each day is a fresh challenge.

The men who produced it are thorough professionals and they've taught me a lot. And, of course, it was great fun to be part of an instant hit. Within four weeks of its start, "Password" became the most popular show in its time period. Not only that, the sets in use at the time it was shown increased, proving that people who had never even had their sets on at that time turned them on just to watch our show. That has to make you feel good.

So — how does it feel? Strangely I think a lot of people will join me in missing it. But that is the business I find myself in these days. The ratings have dictated the demise of the show and now I've got to look ahead. Certainly things look different than they did six years ago. When "Password" started, I was so tentative about a full-time job as a performer that I asked for a six months leave from my CBS executive job. I'd been working weekends on "College Bowl," but it had been many years since I had on-camera work as a full-time occupation. Six months later I was hooked, I still am.

I like working in front of the camera. And I like working with day-time television audiences. I have no idea whether my next show will be a game show. But I'll make book that it will be a day-time show with some kind of audience participation. There is no more challenging job as far as I am concerned. I believe

by Helen Bottel

NEED SHE ASK?

Dear Helen:

I think advice columns usually stink, and wouldn't read them if there was anything else to do in this lousy town. But I guess I might as well get my money's worth from the paper and ask you a question. You columnists usually give stupid answers, but maybe you're better than nothing. I have just started reading "Helen Help Us" since I moved to this miserable excuse for a city, and I'll pass judgment on you when I read what you have to say.

My question is: Why are people so unfriendly to new neighbors? Nobody comes to visit. One woman started out being nice, but it was just to borrow things. Another expected me to babysit her bratty kids but I set her straight in a hurry. I went to one "coffee" and that's the last invitation I've had.

This has happened when we had to move before, and I think it's terrible that people treat newcomers as outcasts.

Answer immediately and wise them up! —DISGUSTED

Dear Dis:

Wise up yourself, chum. Your letter tells me loud and clear you have all the friends you deserve!

....And so long, former reader. —H.

Dear Helen:

My husband took me on a vacation trip to Washington, D. C., and I was never so disappointed in my life. Upon entering from New York Avenue, we saw nothing but slums and streets in terrible repair.

Why can't our nation's capital be made into a showplace so that visitors from foreign lands —and our own country—won't go home with a poor impression? We aren't THAT poor, are we? —BONNIE

Dear Bonnie:

Judging from my income tax, I doubt it! Why not write your Congressman?—H.

Dear Helen:

I married my second husband late last year. His first wife and I wish more people would try to understand the child who is "different" because of size.

People worry a lot over the children of minority groups, and see that they're not mistreated.

I have been to my husband's grave only once on Memorial Day, though it doesn't lack for flowers. I think when people remarry they should live in the present and keep the past to themselves. Don't you?—MARY S.

Dear Mary:

Your husband isn't long on tact, but then you're short on understanding. Remember the Memorial Day pilgrimage has been part of his life for a long time, and besides, it's an opportunity for a visit with his daughter. If he mentions his former wife but doesn't compare you unfavorably, perhaps he's trying to share memories with you.

Let him know you aren't much for by-gones make the present very pleasant, and reassure him that it's normal, after a while, to let the dead sleep. (He may be feeling guilty about taking a new wife.)—H.

Dear Helen:

This is an answer to everyone who is so quick to condemn the "bully" in the neighborhood. My oldest son was large for his age and heavy. When he played with kids his own age, they taunted him, but he could never fight back because he would be "picking on them."

One day he was pushed too far and he hit one of them. From that day on he was the "big bully" down the street.

Overgrown children have special problems most people don't understand. They're mocked by their peers, but they can't defend themselves. If their parents take up the cause, they're considered "big sissies," and if they settle the teasers for themselves, they're "bullies." Sometimes, just in normal play, they hurt other children because they're stronger. And so they usually end up as loners. Other parents don't want them around.

This column is dedicated to flowers on her grave although family living, so if you're having kid trouble, or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own a-grave only once on Memorial Day, though it doesn't lack for flowers. I think when people remarry they should live in the present and keep the past to themselves. Don't you?—MARY S.

British Want to Bring in the Pros

By GEOFFREY MILLER
WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — The most successful Wimbledon tournament of all time is over — and British tennis officials are still intent on their plan to change the formula and bring in the pros.

The tournament was watched by a record total of 301,000 people. Yet next Wednesday the British will make another bid for open tennis at the annual meeting of the International Lawn Tennis Federation in Luxembourg.

This time, the British believe, they have a chance of succeeding.

Wimbledon ended Saturday with John Newcombe of Australia and Mrs. Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., winning the singles titles. Mrs. King won for the second straight year by defeating Mrs. Ann Jones of Britain 6-3, 6-4.

The tournament underlined the arguments for keeping Wimbledon as it is. From the start the form of the players saw-sawed on the fast courts and one favored star after another was knocked out. The stream of upset results colored the tournament and captured the public imagination. The crowds poured in as never before in the 90-year history of the event.

Would the matches be so unpredictable if professionals were let in? Many experts think not.

Chicago Defeated in a Pair

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Kaat and Dave Boswell, who started catching up with American League hitters a month ago, are holding their own against the pitchers too.

The Minnesota Twins drubbed Chicago's American League leaders 7-4 and 5-1 Sunday as winning pitchers Kaat and Boswell stroked two hits apiece and delivered three key runs between them.

Kaat singled to start a two-run rally in the fifth inning of the opener and slammed a two-run homer in the sixth while rolling to his seventh victory in eight decisions since June 10.

Boswell drilled two singles and drove in the go-ahead run in the fourth inning of the nightcap on the way to his third straight triumph and fifth in the last month.

The doubleheader sweep left the third-place Twins 2½ games behind the White Sox and one-half length back of Detroit going into the All-Star break.

The Tigers bombed Boston 10-4 for their seventh straight victory before bowing 3-0 to the Red Sox in the second game of a doubleheader.

In the National League, Houston blanked the Chicago Cubs 6-0, the New York Mets beat Atlanta 5-4, Pittsburgh edged Cincinnati 2-1, Philadelphia shaded St. Louis 4-3 in 10 innings and San Francisco nipped Los Angeles 1-0 in 10.

Kaat, who was 1-7 when Cal Ermer replaced Sam Mele as the Twins' manager a month ago, squared his record at 8-8 in the opener at Chicago. The Twins, beaten 2-1 and 1-0 in the first two games of the four-game series, rebounded with a 14-hit attack that pinned 10-game winner Joe Horlen with only his second loss — both to Minnesota.

Boswell, who didn't win his first game until May 21 and was 3-3 when the Twins changed pilots, scattered seven hits before giving way to Al Worthington with one out in the ninth. The young right-hander, who reeled off eight straight victories last summer for a 12-5 mark before being sidelined in August with arm trouble, boosted his 1967 record to 7-5.

He and Kaat have clicked for 11 of the Twins' 20 victories since Ermer took over and are 6-0 between them during the club's current string of 10 victories in 12 games.

Pitcher Earl Wilson got into the swing of things at Detroit, pounding a home run while breezing to his 10th victory in the Tigers' first game romp over Boston. Dick McAuliffe also homered for the Tigers and Jim Northrup drilled a two-run single to cap a decisive four-run burst in the third inning.

The Red Sox ended a five-game losing streak in the nightcap as Jim Lonborg and John Wyatt collaborated on a four-hitter. Reggie Smith's two-run homer and a bases-empty blast by Carl Yastrzemski gave Lonborg his 11th triumph against three setbacks.

Don Mincher belted a two-run homer, giving him 10 RBIs in his last five games, as the Angels trimmed the As' for their sixth straight victory. Run-scoring singles by Bob Rodgers and pinch hitter Bubba Morton completed the California attack.

George Brunet gained his seventh victory in 18 decisions, with a ninth inning assist from reliever Minnie Rojas.

Frank Howard's 23rd and 24th homers and a three-run shot by Ken McMullen powered the Senators to their victory in the opener at Cleveland. Fred Valentine won the nightcap with a two-run clout in the eighth after Bernie Allen and Dick Nen hit solo homers for the Senators.

Brooks Robinson homered for the Orioles and pinch hitter Vic Roznovsky delivered the winning run with a seventh inning single, enabling southpaw Pete Richert to defeat New York's Mel Stottlemyre.

A two-run single by John Kennedy in the ninth proved the winning margin for the Yankees in the completion of Saturday night's game.

Venus' Arms

It is generally believed by art authorities that the statue of Venus de Milo had arms. When unearthed, it was in two parts and pieces of the arms were found with it, as well as a pedestal with an inscription. These later disappeared and have never again been found.

Ryun, Keino Easily Win Distances

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A pair of the world's most celebrated distance runners, Kansas collegian Jim Ryun and Kenya policeman Kipchoke Keino, emerged more formidable than ever today in the wake of the United States-British Commonwealth track and field meet.

Ryun, the lean, powerful holder of the world mile record, added the 1,500-meter mark to his growing record collection, running 3:33.1 Saturday in the opening session of the two-day international competition.

Cards Lose But Cling to Lead

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was sudden death for just about everybody in the National League except the Chicago Cubs, who are dying slowly.

Leo Durocher's Cubs, who had soared into the National League lead just one week ago, dropped their seventh straight game Sunday losing a three-hitter to Houston's Don Wilson, 6-0.

It completed a terrible week for the Cubs, who clung to second place despite their losing streak. Chicago trails first place St. Louis by 3½ games.

The Cardinals died suddenly Sunday, bowing 4-3 to Philadelphia on Tony Gonzalez' pinch homer in the 10th inning. Willie Mays' 10th inning single drove in San Francisco's only run as the Giants nipped the Dodgers 1-0 on Mike McCormick's five hitler.

Willie Stargell poked a tremendous leadoff homer in the bottom of the ninth, giving Pittsburgh a 2-1 decision over Cincinnati. Jerry Buchek's two-out pinch homer tied the game for New York and then the Mets pushed over another ninth inning run, nipping Atlanta 5-4.

In the American League, Minnesota swept a doubleheader from Chicago 7-4 and 5-1, Washington took two from Cleveland 8-5 and 4-2, Detroit split with Boston, winning 10-4 and then losing 3-0. California downed Kansas City 4-2 and New York dropped Baltimore 3-1 in the completion of a suspended game before the Orioles came back for a 2-1 victory in a regularly scheduled game.

Wilson's victory was the big right-hander's first since he hurled a no-hitter three weeks ago. The triumph squared his record at 5-5.

Jackie Brandt drove in three runs with three hits for the Astros and Jim Wynn upped his major league-leading runs batted in total to 65 with a two-run single.

Larry Jaster was working on a two-hitter and leading Philadelphia 3-1 in the eighth inning when Mike Shannon booted Billy Cowan's bouncer. Red Schoendienst yanked Jaster and Rich Allen tagged reliever Nelson Briles' first pitch for a 430-foot homer that tied the score.

Gonzalez pinch hit for Cowan, who had homered earlier, opening the 10th, and whacked his game-winning shot.

Mays' bases-loaded, two-out single in the 10th inning beat the Dodgers and gave Mike McCormick, 11-3, his seventh straight victory.

McCormick, who pitched a five-hitter, outduelled Claude Osteen, 11-8. It was the eighth straight time the Dodgers have been beaten by a left-hander.

Stargell boomed a Jim Maloney pitch over the right field roof in Forbes Field—only the 11th time it has been done since the stands were erected in 1925.

It was his 12th homer and gave Dennis Ribant the victory. The Reds had tied the score in the ninth on Vada Pinson's triple and a two-out single by Tony Perez.

Buchek, batting for Bud Harrelson, who had four straight hits, tied the game for the Mets loping stride, came back Sunday to outduel Australia's great Ron Clarke in the 5,000 meters with a 13:36.8 clocking.

Clarke was timed in 13:40.9, diminutive Gerry Lindgren, America's lone hope against Keino and Clarke, was bothered by foot blisters and finished a painful third in 13:47.8.

Ryun defeated Keino and smashed the metric mile record of 3:35.6 by Herb Elliott of Australia in the 1960 Olympics.

On the whole, the U.S. men's team dominated their Commonwealth counterparts, 254-170, while the visiting women gained a 125-102 victory over the American girls.

Brittenum Best But Team Loses

By RON SPEER
ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Steve Spurrier, darling of thousands of football fans during a fantastic career at Florida, already has found out his college clipings don't mean much anymore.

The 1966 Heisman Trophy winner, headed for what is expected to be a successful pro career with the San Francisco 49ers, got his first taste of criticism Saturday night in the seventh annual Coaches All-America game.

Spurrier was the target of a barrage of boos for the first time in his life when he missed seven of his first eight passes for the East and had one of his tosses intercepted.

However, the poised quarterback shrugged off the catcalls and embarrassed his critics among the 19,145 fans by passing the East to a 12-9 victory with a 40-yard touchdown throw with three minutes left.

Noted during his Florida career for come-from-behind performances, Spurrier said, "I never gave up. We were just a touchdown from winning all the way."

The winning toss by Spurrier went to Michigan State end Gene Washington, who leaped high for the pass and then raced into the end zone. Spurrier had tossed 13 yards to Tom Francisco of Virginia Tech on the previous play after Georgia's Lynn Hughes gave the East its winning opportunity by intercepting a pass.

Spurrier hit on only 3 of 14 passes for 60 yards, his worst showing ever, but still good enough to give the East a 4-3 edge in the all-star rivalry.

West quarterback Jon Brittenum of Arkansas, headed for the Miami Dolphins, was named the most valuable player after hitting on 21 of 40 tosses for 244 yards, and Spurrier was the first to say "Jon deserved the award, even if his team didn't win."

The East got its other points on a safety and a 29-yard field goal kicked by Bob Griese of Purdue, runnerup in the Heisman Trophy voting who hit on only one of five passes.

The West took a 6-0 lead when Mel Farr of UCLA capped a first quarter drive ignited by Brittenum's passes with a two-yard touchdown leap, and Larry Wacholtz of Nebraska kicked a 25-yard field goal for the losers' other points.

Kick Can Be Worth a Dozen Pitches

SAN FRANCISCO—(NEA) — When Juan Marichal is pitching for the San Francisco Giants, would-be hitters end up doing most of the kicking.

This despite the fact that Marichal usually looks as if he's about to punt the ball in the general direction of Giants' leftfielder Jay Alou.

As far as the denizens of Candlestick Park are concerned, Marichal's leg action can best be described as a giant step in the right direction. Last year Juan posted a 25-6 record with a 2.23 earned run average.

The thing that delights San Francisco fans is not only what Marichal does (which is quite a lot in itself), but the way he does it.

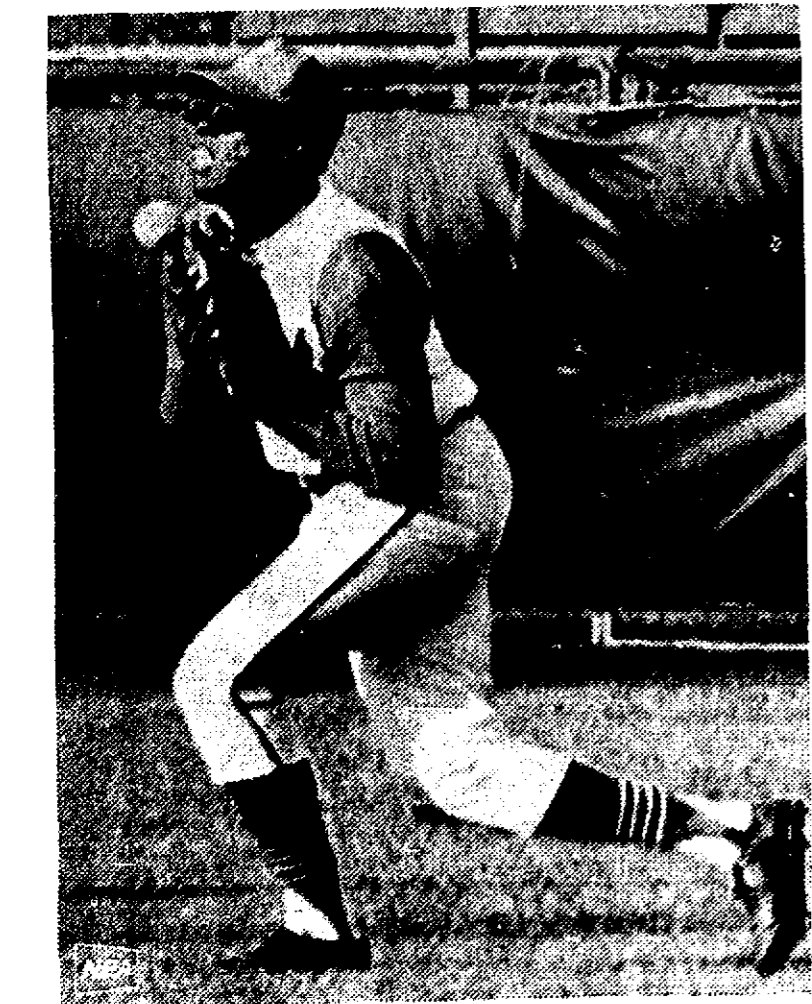

"People ask me why I pitch the way I do," says Marichal, who often appears to be tottering on the brink of falling flat on his back as he kicks his left foot high over his head during his rocking chair delivery. "All I can say is that that's my style of pitching and for me it's the only way. It might not work for somebody else, but for me it's right."

Juan watchers, a growing breed since Sandy Koufax hung up his strikeout pitch, note that the mercurial Marichal must have a hard time keeping sight of the plate as he prepares to let fly with one of the eight or 10 pitches (some hitters think he may have as many as 12) in his arsenal, but Marichal says it's no problem.

"In golf," he says, "they tell you not to take your eye off the ball. If you watch films of a good golfer you see that he keeps his head down even though his body is moving all around. It's the same way with pitching. The leg goes up, the arm goes down, but the head doesn't move very much."

Would-be batters have been shaking their heads in discouragement ever since the Giants plucked Marichal out of the Dominican Republic and pointed him in the direction of greatness. He's been winning games and making impressions on opponents (ask John Roseboro about that) for seven seasons in the majors and the best may be yet to come, according to San Francisco manager Herman Franks.

"Juan has eight or more pitches," says Franks, "while Sandy, as great as he was, had only two—a fast ball and a curve. There's no telling what Marichal could do during the next few years."

MAYE-BE Lee Maye of the Cleveland Indians will hang on to the ball. Fortunately for the Indians, he did, preventing a costly error.

Willisville School Plan Questionable

Little Rock — A new legal issue has been raised in the Willisville school case, whether a freedom of choice desegregation plan that permits students to attend school in another district meets the requirements of the U.S. Constitution.

Last week the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals at St. Louis sent the case back to Federal District Judge Oren Harris of El Dorado for a hearing on that issue.

Willisville operates one school in Nevada County. During the last year the school had an enrollment of 85 whites and 30 Negroes. There are about 70 Negroes in the District and the other 40, most live in the County Line community, attended Oak Grove school which provided bus services to them.

Willisville has proposed a freedom of choice desegregation plan that would permit any student in the district to attend the school of choice. Students in Oak Grove could not attend Willisville School.

Oak Grove is an all - Negro district that accommodates Negro students in the Willisville, Cale, Bodew and Laneburg areas. This arrangement continued until last summer when Oak Grove was told by the U.S. Health, Education and Welfare Department that it must stop accepting students from outside.

Willisville took 30 Negroes last fall but refused to take the other 40. It said it didn't have classrooms, teachers or textbooks to accommodate them.

Acting on the advice of the HEW representatives of Oak Grove Board also refused to accept the Willisville Negroes. The Board felt it couldn't risk losing federal aid which is 60 per cent of revenues received, even though it had the room.

Parents of 11 Negro students took the case to court. The 40 Negroes were out of school until Dec. 1 when Judge Harris ordered Oak Grove District to educate them and directed the HEW Department not to interfere with the school's federal aid. Willisville was also directed to submit a desegregation plan.

The plaintiffs appealed Harris's order alleging that he erred by denying Negro pupils to Oak Grove and that no desegregation plan was needed where a district had only one school.

The appeals court approved the portion of the order requiring a desegregation plan by Willisville but said it was reserving its opinion on whether a plan of the type proposed was constitutional.

Charles L. (Chuck) Honey of Prescott, attorney for Willisville Board said that the Board would make arrangements to accommodate all Negro students who applied to attend Willisville School. He said he believed that most of the 40 Negroes would choose Oak Grove which is a larger school.

Parents of Willisville students attending Oak Grove have in the past paid their property taxes to the Oak Grove District.

Woman Under Police Escort Shot, Killed

MENA, Ark. (AP) — A single blast from a 20-gauge shotgun loaded with No. 2 buckshot killed Charlene Wilhite, 19, as she was being escorted from the Polk County Courthouse by a state trooper and a Mena policeman.

Her estranged husband, Darrell Wilhite, 23, was held later Sunday in the County Jail pending charges. Their divorce was to become final today.

"He just shot her out from between us," said trooper Ken Kendrix. "He slipped up behind us before we knew what was going on."

Hendrix said he and officer Floyd Phillips of Mena were on their way to arrest Wilhite when they left the courthouse with his wife.

Mrs. Wilhite, mother of a 10-month-old girl, had sworn out a complaint charging that her husband, who already was under a restraining order, had rammed her automobile with his own vehicle and had pulled a knife on her earlier in the evening, Hendrix said.

He said a passer-by had seen Wilhite coming up behind the trio as they left the courthouse. "I don't know why the man didn't holler," Hendrix said.

Wilhite was knocked unconscious with a blow from the butt of Hendrix's pistol after the shooting. His pockets were filled with shotgun shells, Hendrix said.

LBJ Ends His First Official Vacation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson returned to the White House early today from his first acknowledged vacation since becoming chief executive.

Johnson and wife Lady Bird spent nearly 11 days at their Texas ranch. The President handled a daily flow of office routine but still managed to devote much of his time to relaxation—to auto tours of his hill country cattle-and-deer properties and to boating excursions on Lake Lyndon B. Johnson.

During past Texas stays, the White House invariably pictured Johnson as hard at work on official chores much of the time—and this often was the case. This time, however, aides readily acknowledged, even volunteered, that the President was trying to get as much rest and relaxation as possible.

In Washington he faces major decisions soon on a request from Gen. William C. Westmoreland for more troops in Vietnam and on how much of a Vietnam tax increase to seek from Congress.

Booyed by an improved showing in public opinion polls, Johnson also is expected to do more speechmaking outside the capital. There was a chance he might fly to Boston Tuesday night, for example, to address the convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Businessmen Say McNamara a Real Brain

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The University of Michigan's Graduate School of Business Administration polled 432 businessmen on who is the country's greatest living business executive. They picked Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

He used to be president of the Ford Motor Co. and he has a brain like a computer. Everybody says so. He can rattle off any time an astonishing list of facts and figures.

He sometimes oversells himself, as on some of his trips to Vietnam when he came back saying things were looking up, and then things got worse, which could be interpreted as meaning sometimes he needs new glasses.

But he has streamlined the Defense Department. And there's no doubt it's McNamara, not the generals, who runs the place, about the first time a civilian has ever been able to do that.

Shortly he will return from his ninth trip to Vietnam in six years, an inspection trip in keeping with his present line of work, which is quite different from trying to figure out the prospects for the new 1968 model hardtop.

Never in his life did he run into the kind of competition encountered in Vietnam. Over there it is not computers but bombs and bullets which tally profits and losses. Dollar signs don't count.

Now about 465,000 Americans are engaged in the war with the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese, or 31 times the 15,000 U.S. troops who were there three years ago. But a strange thing happened.

While we kept pouring in more men, so did the enemy. They seem to have an inexhaustible supply. But it costs North Vietnam a lot less to fight a war.

And the Soviets have supplied North Vietnam with weapons, some of them very good, which, from a business view, makes North Vietnam look like a Soviet distributor.

McNamara has conferred at length in Saigon with the American commander, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, who wants still more men, possibly 100,000 to 140,000 men.

As any good businessman would, McNamara has probed and pressed to know if the best possible use is being made of the men already there. When he returns he will report his recommendations, for or against, to President Johnson.

Westmoreland said last week: "We are slowly but steadily winning." This indicated some progress, for when McNamara returned from Vietnam in 1965 he said the Communists were tripping their rate of infiltration but "we have stopped losing."

Nevertheless, over the week-end Hanoi radio disputed Westmoreland about slowly winning. It said the war is a stalemate right now. So this is all a pretty gloomy business for McNamara.

Suppose he decides Westmoreland needs 100,000 men or more and Johnson sends them and then the North Vietnamese pump in more men to make up the difference.

Then what happens? Does McNamara make another trip in a year or so and does Westmoreland say things are looking a little better but he needs more men? And if that happens, how long will it keep on happening?

Freeways Are Free But Not Turnpikes

EDITOR'S NOTE—The author of the following reflections on driving in the East moved earlier this year from Sacramento, Calif., to Alexandria, Va.

By DEREK SCHOEN
WASHINGTON (AP) — Like Hollywood or the hippies, freeways are the butt of countless jokes about California.

So humor-connected has become the subject of the Golden State's high-speed, traffic-clogged highways that even one-time Californians tend to forget—at least until they come East—one nice thing about freeways: They're free.

Not so the amalgamation of turnpikes, thruways and the like that are the East Coast equivalent.

You can drive at high speeds in the East. You can travel comfortably. But you can't do it for nothing.

Take, for example, the unsuspecting ex-Californian who drives from Washington to Philadelphia on the newest roads available.

He travels Interstate 95 the 40 miles to Baltimore, Md., in less than an hour. So far he is out of pocket only the cost of the gas his car has burned.

But then he begins searching his pockets for change and grappling with his wallet for cash in a pantomime that seems endless. First, he arrives at a tunnel that takes him beneath Baltimore's harbor. It's a nice, clean tunnel and only a Scrooge would begrudge the 50 cents he has to fork out to use it.

Then it's off through northern Maryland, Delaware and New Jersey, where the toll booths seem only slightly less numerous than the trees.

Consider the Maryland section of the John F. Kennedy Memorial Highway. The toll is $1, or about 2 cents a mile.

And for the unwary, the cost can go up. The driver who has paid his $1 and follows a sign to one off-highway service station finds it costs him two bits to get back on.

Later come the 30-cent toll for the 15-mile Delaware section of the same highway, 50 cents for crossing the Delaware Memorial Bridge at Wilmington and 40 cents for the 30 miles of the New Jersey Turnpike to the Philadelphia turnoff.

The jokes about California freeways usually include a reference to the driver who missed his turnoff and had to travel many extra miles before he could turn around.

There's an East Coast variation to that. Leave the toll roads in Maryland and Delaware before reaching the end and you'll find an unmanned toll booth plus a sign reading, "Exact Change Only."

Presumably: No change, no exit.

Grizzly bears will eat anything from huckleberries to pocket gophers.

Oswald: "He was quite rusty in the first set of boards but by the time the second set came around he was right back in form except that he played the dummy a trifle slower than he used to. On the other hand his technique was perfect. We picked up 720 points worth 13 International Match points on this hand when the opposing South

There will be at least 14 presidential preference primaries preceding next year's presidential election—three more than in 1964. Massachusetts, Nebraska and South Dakota have enacted legislation providing for the preview voting, in most cases to select party convention delegates, which can make or break candidates in advance of the national nominating conventions. Several other legislatures are also considering establishing primaries.

failed to use this correct technique."
Jim: "It is easy enough to go down with the South hand. Assuming that diamonds are opened and continued, South ruffs the third diamond and plays out the ace and king of trumps. The trumps don't break and, with the heart finesse losing, South is down one."

Oswald: "That's just the way the hand was played against us but Johnny used the winning technique. He ruffed the third diamond, played out the high clubs, cashed his ace of trumps, led a small trump and finessed dummy's jack. Then he drew the last trump and led hearts. When the queen failed to drop he conceded a heart trick."

Jim: "In case some of our readers will just say that Johnny was lucky and that he took the wrong percentage play when he tried a finesse rather than a drop with nine trumps, they should study the hand carefully."
Oswald: "In that case, they will see that when Johnny took the trump finesse he didn't really care if the finesse won or lost. As far as his contract was concerned he could lose the finesse but could not lose the contract after both opponents followed to the first trump lead."

Jim: "If East held the queen of trumps he would have been on lead and forced to give John a ruff and discard or lead away from the queen of hearts."

Q—My son, 3, has alopecia areata. What is the cause and how long will it take for his hair to grow back?
A—The cause of spotty loss of hair (alopecia areata) is unknown but it is seen most often in highly nervous children with finicky appetites. Before a diagnosis of this disease is made it is necessary to rule out ringworm of the scalp. The loss of hair is permanent in a small percentage of children but in most it persists for several months and then the hair gradually returns. The treatment is unsat-

THE WELL CHILD®
Umbilical Cord Key
To Congenital Defects?
By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

When a baby is born the doctor ties, then cuts, the umbilical cord, applies a sterile covering and then, in most cases, doesn't give it a second thought. Now Dr. Solnitzky at Georgetown University in Washington has announced that a closer inspection of the severed cord may give important clues to possible congenital defects. On the cut surface of the normal cord two arteries and one vein are plainly visible but on about one per cent of cords only one artery and vein are seen.

When this is the case a careful search for birth defects should be made because early recognition leads to prompt application of corrective measures. The earlier such measures are started the better the final results. Often the defects present in these infants involve the intestines or the urinary tract and cannot be detected without special tests.

The correction is usually surgical and may mean the difference between life and death for the infant. The cause of this defect is believed to be inadequacy of the supply of blood delivered through the cord, but the cause of the cord defect is not known. It can be safely stated, however, that it is not hereditary.

Q—My daughter, 9, has hair growing on her upper lip and is very hairy in other places. Is there anything we can do to get rid of it?
A—If your daughter comes from swarthy Mediterranean stock, this condition is probably hereditary. Otherwise, she may have an imbalance of her glands of internal secretion. A thorough study should be made to determine the cause of her unwanted hair. About the only way to get rid of the hairs permanently is with an electric needle. Each hair root must be killed separately. For minimal pain and scarring, and assurance that the hairs will not grow back, this should be done by a skin specialist.

Russellville Dedication

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP) — A marker honoring William Lewis Lovely, a Revolutionary War soldier who came to this area in 1813 as one of the first white settlers and died in 1817 at his home on the nearby Illinois Bayou, was dedicated here Sunday in ceremonies sponsored by the Pope County Historical Association.

Jackie Coogan Is a Father

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — The wife of actor Jackie Coogan has given birth to a six-pound boy after spending most of her pregnancy in a hospital recovering from an auto accident.

Dorothea Coogan, 43, was severely injured in a head-on collision last Dec. 15 and learned only while she was in a hospital that she was pregnant.

Men Given Opportunity by Designer

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Editor
NEW YORK (AP) — Though women have had the monopoly on crazy legs thus far this season, John Wetz is now giving men an almost equal opportunity to be ankle deep in color and pattern.

Why should the eye settle on the tie of a man's otherwise drab costume, reasoned Wetz, when "people should be wondering what's going on around his shoes." At the same time Wetz at his no-model show flashed onto a screen some slides of patterned socks bolder than ships' signal flags.

Wetz, the handsome husband of actress Susan Kohner, calls himself more of an engineer than a designer of men's clothes. That is because he is interested in changing the function of men's clothes—not the clothes themselves. Except for men's socks.

"Men work hard at looking conservative and unobtrusive," he said just before his show for more than 200 fashion editors here Sunday. "They put a lot of thought into dressing so that people will notice them for their brains rather than their clothes."

And he wouldn't change that a bit except for their socks.

He has improved the function of men's apparel by such things as shortening a car coat so that the driver does not sit on it, and by inserting jacket pockets at a diagonal angle so that the wearer can slip his hand into one without leaning to the side.

He also has changed the function of nightwear with his hotel pajama. Wetz thinks these are right for a business man who wants to hold a meeting in his room in comfort. The new pajama is a simple short sleeved open coat with short trousers. It is checked but not flamboyant.

His show was the first of a weeklong program of fall style previews called the American Designer series which started Sunday and will continue through Friday.

Mrs. Wallace Has Malignant Tumor

By REX THOMAS
HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Cancer specialists have confirmed that a tumor which has stricken Alabama Gov. Lurleen Wallace is malignant.

They prepared for an exploratory operation today to determine the extent of the malignancy and, if possible, to remove the tumor.

The 40-year-old governor was scheduled to go into surgery at 8 a.m. CDT for an operation expected to last several hours.

Doctors said they hoped to be able to tell what the operation revealed when a medical bulletin is issued at 3 p.m.

The malignancy, first detected three weeks ago by doctors in Montgomery, Ala., was confirmed Sunday by specialists at the M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute in Houston.

It is Mrs. Wallace's second battle with cancer in 18 months. She underwent surgery in January 1966 for removal of a cancer of the uterus. When she returned to the hospital for a checkup last month, she was found to have cancer again.

Dr. R. Lee Clark, director and chief surgeon at Anderson Hospital, said in a bulletin Sunday that members of his staff "concur with the Alabama physicians that the governor has a malignant condition" again.

Clark said, "there is a tumor in the lower abdomen."

Mrs. Wallace, mother of four children, remained in good spirits. Clark expressed admiration for her "fortitude and forthright approach" to the illness.

While the medical men were concluding their pre-surgical diagnosis, Mrs. Wallace chatted cheerfully with her husband, former Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, and their eldest daughter, Mrs. James Parsons. Occasionally the governor walked across the hall to a reception room to read some of the hundreds of letters and telegrams received since her arrival last Tuesday.

BLUE CROSS
REPORT TO MEMBERS
BLUE SHIELD

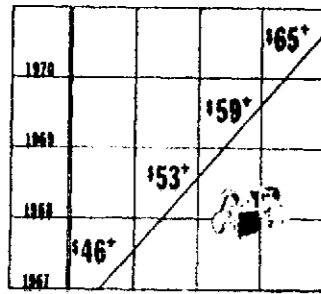

BENEFITS THAT REALLY GROW . . . last month, we paid $7,688.24 for one member's hospital and doctor care. This was an unusually large bill but, the point is . . . when they need it, EVERY ARKANSAS BLUE CROSS-BLUE SHIELD MEMBER CAN GET THIS KIND OF DEPENDABLE HELP!

SPEAKING OF DEPENDABLE HELP . . . 16,246 Arkansas members called on us for help in paying their health care expenses last May. We answered to the tune of $1,155,066.60 . . . that's a pretty good reply!

HERE'S SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT
The rising cost of health care makes your Blue Cross-Blue Shield membership more valuable than ever!

As the chart below indicates, it's estimated that by 1970, the average daily charge for all hospital services in Arkansas will exceed $65. No matter what the cost . . . Arkansas Blue Cross-Blue Shield members can always be sure of help for paying hospital and doctor bills.

FIRST AID REMINDER . . . Forget the tourniquet. The best way to stop bleeding is to place a sterile cloth over the wound and press hard. If available, ice cubes wrapped inside a cloth will help slow down the flow of blood. Otherwise . . . grab the cleanest cloth you can find—even if it's not sterile—the risk of infection is less dangerous than the loss of blood.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Passengers on North Atlantic ocean liners may see bright, red icebergs as they cruise from America to Europe, says The World Almanac. The colorful icebergs are designed to warn ship captains, and for research. The U.S. Coast Guard bombards them with chemicals that soak into the ice and last for about 8 to 10 days.

Martins Still Here But Not for Long; Highway Screen?

The purple martins are still with us—but not for long. I checked my boxes Sunday, noted the date, July 9, and considered that to be a remarkably late figure, as my recollection was the martins head south about the 4th of July.

But the written record proved I was wrong. Twice in the five previous years the martins have stayed around later than this. Here is the departure record:

1962-July 5

1963-July 17

1964-July 4

1965-July 12

1966-July 4

Of course the weather varies the martins' schedule. We had a cool Spring and the birds got here late. But the signs of impending departure are obvious. The young are completing their flying lessons. Any day now the flocks will take off for a navigation-testing cruise over north Arkansas and southern Illinois. A couple of weeks after they vanish you may sight them again, but only for a day—as they take one last look at the home box before striking out for the Gulf.

Martins spend four months here, four months in South America—and the balance four months on the roundtrip between continents.

Returning from dinner in Texarkana Sunday night I noted a fault in the construction of Interstate Highway 30—although it can be remedied.

One of the great values of a divided road is that it should keep the blinding lights of oncoming traffic out of drivers' eyes. But the two roadways are fairly close west of Red River—and the drivers were signaling each other to throw the lights down, just as on a two-lane single highway.

One solution would be to plant shrubbery in the parkway between the roads, making an effective screen against oncoming headlights. It may be that the highway powers have had this in mind all along. But it wouldn't hurt to take it upon yourself to ask some pointed questions.

Wreck Near Emmet Fatal to Woman

Mrs. Vernon Rayno, 56, of Lone Star, Texas, was killed late Saturday in a two-car collision on Highway 67 about a mile north of Emmet.

State Trooper Bob Cockman said her husband, Vernon, suffered a crushed leg and that the driver of the second car involved, Hershal Ammons, 27, of Prescott, sustained a broken leg.

Trooper Cockman said the accident occurred when Ammons attempted to pass another vehicle and crashed into the Texas car head on. Ammons has been charged with driving while intoxicated, the officer said.

McNamara Says War Is Being Won

By PETER ARNETT

SOI RAP RIVER, Vietnam (AP) — U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said today after his second day touring the Vietnamese countryside that he found the multimillion-dollar pacification program "proceeding very slowly" but that large-scale military "operations have been going very well for the past four months."

McNamara spent much of today getting briefed on the Mekong Delta region that sprawls south from Saigon and has long been the heartland of the Viet Cong movement.

He talked briefly to newsmen during a visit to the U.S. combined Army-Navy Mobile Riverine Force that operates in the northern waters of the delta.

"We must be realistic and recognize that the pacification effort is still proceeding very slowly," said the secretary.

"But I am encouraged by the improvement in the organization that has taken place in re-

Says Russia Ignited Mid-East War

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House refuses to comment on a report President Johnson was aware of how the Soviet Union allegedly ignited the Israeli-Arab war with faked intelligence reports that backfired.

Cruisers Hit Enemy Gun Positions

By GEORGE MCARTHUR

SAIGON (AP) — Three U.S. Navy cruisers pounded Communist gun positions in the demilitarized zone Sunday as the Red guns kept up their lethal artillery and rocket barrages on sandbagged Marine positions just below the zone.

The U.S. Command also reported that photographs of a bombing raid near Hanoi showed the Communists may have lost 68 of their antiaircraft missiles to one devastating naval air strike.

Little ground action was reported as U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara toured battle zones for the second day. After visiting the embattled Marines below the demilitarized zone Sunday, he shifted today to the Mekong Delta to look into pacification programs, tour a Special Forces camp and visit the new Army-Navy Mobile Riverine Force which moves inland about the watery delta.

Off the demilitarized zone, the heavy cruiser Boston joined the heavy cruiser St. Paul and the light cruiser Providence and the three moved close inshore to pound Red positions with 15 8-inch guns, 6 6-inch guns and 5 5-inch guns. The heavy blow at the Soviet-built missile came two days ago when Navy fliers hit a barracks area and missile storage site at Ban Yen Nanh, 14 miles southeast of Hanoi. It was the first raid against the area which

Air Objects Sighted at El Dorado

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP)

When he first caught sight of it through his binoculars about 10:45 p.m. Sunday, Joe McNutt of the Federal Aviation Agency thought it was an airplane light.

But this light was continuous, rather than blinking, as an airplane light does, he recounted later. And suddenly it vanished.

After that, he said, his office at the El Dorado airport, seven miles west of here, was flooded with calls from others who had seen similar unidentified flying objects.

John Ralston, an announcer for Radio Station KELD, said he, too, received similar reports. Four were sighted traveling north to south, two from west to east and two from east to west, he said.

McNutt and those who called both him and Ralston described the objects as reddish-orange on the top and silver on the bottom. They were several times larger than stars, they said, and they traveled on horizontal planes, rather than falling downward, as does a meteor.

All said the objects "just disappeared" after being visible for about a minute.

There was no immediate explanation for the sightings.

Also in conference is a bill that would prescribe standards of population variation in congressional districts. The conferees reached an agreement before the recess but the House rejected it.

Trucker Is Killed Near Texarkana

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP)

One trucker was dead and another was in serious condition at a Texarkana hospital Sunday night after a freak accident late Saturday on Interstate 30 near its junction with Arkansas 67, about two miles east of here. State Police said Johnny Earnest Smith, 42, of Little Rock, was killed when his west-bound transport truck veered across a 30-foot wide median and crashed head-on into another one driven by William C. O'Rand, 56, also of Little Rock.

Both men were driving for the East Texas Motor Freight Co. O'Rand suffered multiple fractures, burns and bruises.

Traffic was backed up for several miles in both directions after State Police sealed off the area, acting on reports that one or both trucks carried explosives. A demolition crew was rushed to the scene from the New River Army Ammunition Depot here.

Officers later learned that one truck was loaded with general merchandise and the other with reject fuse primers being sent back to the manufacturer. The fuse primers were not explosive, they said.

Officers said the fire that destroyed both trucks apparently began when the gas tanks exploded. Two truck tires also exploded, they said.

Flying debris from one of the explosions caused minor damage to one of the two ambulances summoned by officers.

The fire was reported out about 1 a.m. Sunday, an hour and a half after the accident. Officers were unable to explain why Smith's truck crossed the median.

UN Sending Observers to the Suez

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.

(AP) — The U.N. Security Council decided today to send military observers to the cease-fire line along the Suez Canal where Israeli and Egyptian troops have clashed during the past two weekends.

As Secretary-General U Thant prepared to seek Israeli and Egyptian acceptance of the U.N. observers, informed sources in Amman said King Hussein of Jordan would go to Cairo today to meet with four Arab government chiefs gathered there.

Hussein was expected to urge moderation toward the victorious Israelis, and there was prospect of a clash with President Houari Boumedienne of Algeria and Nouredin Atassi of Syria, who have repeatedly demanded continuation of the war against Israel.

President Abdel Rahman Aref of Iraq also was expected to join the summit conference with President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt.

An Israeli army jeep hit a mine on a road east of the Suez Canal Sunday, killing one soldier and wounding two others, an Israeli military spokesman said. He said other mines were found and there were footprints between the canal and the road.

The Security Council met to hear Israeli and Egyptian countercharges stemming from a nine-hour battle of airplanes and artillery along the canal Saturday. The semi-official Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram said Egypt would need to know the observers' exact job and the extent of their authority before agreeing to accept them. These details were left to be worked out by Thant and Norwegian Lt. Gen. Odd Bull, chief of the U.N. Truce Organization in Palestine.

An authoritative Israeli source said Israel would agree to cease-fire observers but not to revival of the truce supervisory mission which supervised the woking of the 1949 armistice agreements. Israel contends the June war wiped out that truce.

Israeli newspapers reported that Egyptian MIG21 jet fighters patrolled the canal's west bank Sunday and the Israeli troops observed Egyptian forces strengthening positions about a mile from the Israeli outpost of Ras El'ish, eight miles south of the canal's north entrance.

Saturday's fighting and clashes the previous weekend were near Ras El'ish and El Qantara, about 10 miles to the south, on the east bank. Israeli jets Saturday shot down one of the MIG21s supplied to Egypt by the Soviet Union. The dogfight was over Port Fuad, at the canal entrance.

AP correspondent David Lanchester reported from Beirut, Lebanon, that most of the Arab governments are still doing nothing to restore their economy or face postwar problems one month after the war ended.

No Arab government has conceded Israel's right to exist. None has voiced any intention of negotiating with the Jewish state to regain occupied lands.

Man Killed in Nashville Shear Plant

Shirley Eugene Copeland, 26, was killed when a big grinder wheel at which he was working in the Case Shear plant at Nashville exploded at 7:45 this morning.

Copeland, according to the Nashville News, was seated at the wheel grinding the inside of shear blades when the big disc went to pieces, one of which struck him in the head. The wheel was 34 inches in diameter and turning at 1,100 r.p.m. when it disintegrated.

Copeland had been employed by Case since 1960. It was Case's first fatal accident in the 16 years the company has been operating its plant at Nashville, Louis Graves, editor of the Nashville News, told Hope Star.

Funeral arrangements and the names of survivors could not be learned before press time.
